

Happy Easter everyone!

First of all, we would like to say another thank you for your excellent work this half term. We think you have definitely earned your Easter break! For your homework, we would like you to continue reading daily. Here are some pointers for what you could discuss with an adult at home:

- The meaning of new and unfamiliar words
- Your opinions on the characters – do you like them? Explain.
- Inference of characters' feelings through their words and actions
- Your general opinion of the book you are reading

For maths, it is really important to keep practising your times tables. We would like you to keep using TTRS, to practise instant recall of those facts. Look out for the “Officially Unofficial MTC” which will allow you to practise in the style of the Year 4 MTC (Multiplication Tables Check) in June. We will be checking to see how often you are using TTRS in the hopes of congratulating those who are using it regularly to improve their times tables knowledge.

There is also a website called Maths With a Mouse which is packed full of Year 4 MTC preparation games that we would advise playing.

Have a wonderful Easter. Enjoy spending time with your families and have a restful, safe holiday.

All the best,

The Year 4 Team
