

Art Homework

This week we have been learning about watercolour techniques and have drawn our marine animal and added watercolour. For homework, we would like you to practise drawing the outline of your animal. Remember, the shape is really important! Make sure you practice drawing the animal that you are writing your non-chronological report about. We're not expecting you to add watercolour, but if you are lucky enough to have watercolours at home then feel free!

Next week in school we will be drawing and adding watercolour to your marine creatures to go on your non-chronological display pages, so make sure you are confident with drawing the shape! Remember to look up photos of your animal to find inspiration.
